WOMEN IN HISTORY

WOMEN IN HISTORY is a challenging game intended to stimulate student interest and reinforce classroom activities. This program has been used successfully with elementary as well as secondary students.

The object of the game is to identify a WOMAN IN HISTORY randomly selected by the computer. Students "buy" clues to help them guess, but the more clues they buy, the higher their scores. In this game, the LOW SCORE wins.

Each game may contain up to 100 different categories with numerous 5, 10, 25, and 50 point clues for each. The categories already included in the game may be extensively modified by the teacher to complement current classroom activities. Modifications include adding, changing, and/or deleting both categories and clues as well as changing the Design Options.

Students may choose to compete against themselves or against other students.

A list of famous WOMEN IN HISTORY is included on the back of this card.
